Money Matters

While you can't put a price on knowledge, studying certainly doesn't come cheap. Expect to spend about €975-€1,500 a month on living expenses alone, tuition fees not included. On our website you can find a rough breakdown so you can prepare financially.

Fees and funding

Several scholarships and loans are available to UvA students for them to finance their tuition and living expenses while studying in the Netherlands. If you wish to apply, please note that there are deadlines. Also, consider it may take multiple weeks to complete applications, and that some must be applied for while you're still in your home country.

Health and wellbeing

Studying can be as challenging as it can be exciting! During this journey, the UvA supports your health and wellbeing through a great many services and initiatives. Study advisers, student psychologists and general practitioners are here for you, but so are CREA, the cultural centre, and seven UvA sports locations throughout Amsterdam. Whatever you need to study, there's a good chance you can find it on our website. Check out the overview online.

Student ID card

To borrow your books from the library or to safely park your bicycle: the student ID card is indispensable on campus. Request yours and apply by uploading a photo using your UvAnetID. You can get this sorted one month before your start at the UvA. When your card is ready for pick-up, you will receive an e-mail about where to collect it. This may take several weeks.
